Strange Death Stirs Community As Story Of Suicide Is Heard

Just driven here from Athol, Mass. After going out for a little lunch he returned to the small cottage where two beds had been made up as he said he expected another friend later and remarked that he would retire. That he did not appear Friday morning did not surprise Mrs. McCoy but as the afternoon wore away, she wondered if he had gone out. But looking out she saw his windows were all closed and the curtains drawn and she thought he might still be resting up. Before leaving for her home in Hampton village, Mrs. McCoy again walked out to the cottage that Corsetti had hired and this time she thought she heard him snoring and that he must be very tired. After reaching home she was puzzled as to whether she had heard a snore or a groan. Saturday noon she sent word to her sister, Mrs. James Verdun, whom she had left in charge, by Terri, Mrs. Adale J. Arnold, that if the young man had not yet shown up, to take a passkey and look into the cottage. On opening the door, the two ladies found him on his hands and knees on the floor in front of a gas stove which was fully turned on but from which no gas was then flowing, it being a 25-cent meter and that amount of gas had been used up. On one hand was a burn from a cigarette which he had had in his mouth but which had apparently dropped out when he fell out of his chair, but there being no odor of gas in the room then, the ladies believed that he had been taken with a sudden illness or heart attack and called on the police who quickly got the firemen with their first aid equipment and life guards Roy Isbel and Ernest Underwood who worked over him unsuccessfully. Dr. Wayne P. Bryer, who was also called, ordered the man taken to the Exeter hospital.

At the hospital after the gas had been pumped out of his lungs, Corsetti slightly rallied and it was thought that he would recover. He did not hold the gain, gradually losing ground until his death occurred at 10 a. m. Sunday morning.

Medical examiner Frederick S. Gray of Portsmouth viewed the body and declared that the death was the result of suicide. He also stated that the apparent burns from a cigarette were caused by the gas poisoning. County solicitor Stephen Wheeler of Exeter is making an official examination into the matter.

The parents of Corsetti were at the hospital when he died, having come here as soon as they received word. John P. Hennessey, assistant district manager of the John Hancock Life Insurance Company, for whom Corsetti worked at their State Street office in Boston, and other officials of the company came to the Beach late Saturday night remaining until after death had taken place and spoke very highly of Corsetti and said they were unable to give any reason for his suicide. The body was taken to his home for burial.

The Ocean boulevard to Marsh avenue. A pleasanter anniversary of the week was that which marked the turning on of the lights of the White Way on June 26, 1926 when from the Mile-long bridge to Cutler's Sea View House 2100 electric lights strung at intervals across the street were turned on. While from a distance the effect was very pleasing, the actual light diffused was not equal to the present system and the bother of replacing bulbs was considerable.

Last Saturday marked the historic attack of the Indians here at Hampton upon five houses in which fourteen people were killed, one other was scalped and left for dead, but recovered, and four were taken prisoners. The attack was made in the early morning and the Indians having plundered the houses set them on fire and then retreated through the Great Swamp towards Portsmouth. Having reached a hill in what is now Rye, N. H., they stopped to prepare breakfast on the side of the hill. Here they were overtaken by Council, who stated that New Hampshire is leading all other New England States in recreational development and compliments the State Planning Board on the excellent manner of conducting publicity.

Mr. Lawrence F. Whittemore, Boston & Maine Railroad official, and vice-president of the New Hampshire Division of the New England Council, spoke of cooperative action between railroad and development commissions and future erection of a new bridge across the Piscataqua River to relieve traffic congestion through Portsmouth.

Matthew Cavanaugh, secretary of the Monadnock Region, told of his experiences in the upper part of New Hampshire.

Alvin F. Redden, secretary of the Seacoast Association, made several announcements.

The banquet was declared the best that had been enjoyed in recent years.

Campion's Cruise Shop Is A Complete One

The Campion Cruise Shop offers more than the finest beach wear. Probably most important during the summer ARE our beach items—the Jantzen and Gantner trunks, the colorful beach shirts—but we are also able to present complete assortments of suits, slacks, and jackets.

The famous Palm Beach—cool to look at, cool to wear—with authentic drape tailoring, is $16.75. Other lightweight, porous summer suits are at $25. Colorful sport jackets, all distinctively styled (which have met widespread approval at Dartmouth), begin at $12.50. Sport slacks, well designed and long-lasting, in gabardines, tweeds, and shetlands, are at $6.50.

"Singing Cop" Dunks Fair Lady in the Drink At Sebago Lake, Me.

William Elliot, Hampton Beach's singing cop, turned life-saver this week while at Sebago Lake, Maine, when he rescued Miss Eleanor Evans from the water beside the dock belonging to the summer place of Mr. Russell Hammons, Dearborn Avenue, Hampton.

Visiting Mr. Hammons at Sebago, Elliot offered to carry Miss Evans from a power launch up the dock to the shore, inasmuch as the water was unusually high and the walk submerged. But the singing cop slipped and both Miss Evans and himself fell overboard. His friends declare "Bill" would have done better to spread his coat on the boards, as la Sir Walter Raleigh and Queen Elizabeth.

Auto Death Toll In New Hampshire Reaches Fifty-Nine

Motor vehicle fatalities in the state up to last week reached 59 or 34 more than in the same period in 1936. The latest report issued by the State Motor Vehicle Department does not include accidents that occurred on Sunday and Monday, nor does it include two fatal accidents that occurred last week off the public highways.

In addition 64 persons, including 11 children under the age of 14, were hurt in 45 accidents.

Persons killed last week were:

When a hobby reaches the stage where it brings pleasure not only to the person who cultivates it, but to thousands of others as well, it ceases to be a hobby and becomes a public institution. Fourth Celebrated By Big Fire At Tuck Memorial Ath. Field

The Fourth of July observance (which was, as has been the custom for the past several years) in charge of the local American Legion Post No. 35 and Ladies' Auxiliary, celebrated most fittingly on the "Night Before" was attended by the largest number in the history of the town and was one of the most orderly yet held, as no disturbance of any kind was experienced, although the grounds of the Tuck Memorial Athletic Field, all area ways, and parking spaces were filled to capacity by those attending with many remaining in their parked cars.

The celebration opened with a concert at 11 P. M. until 12 midnight given by the Hampton Beach band under the direction of Charles H. Leave, who is conducting this year.

At exactly 12 midnight, the huge pile, over 50 feet high, which had been gathered throughout the past ten days, was touched off by Richard Grenier, son of Reginald Grenier, a member of the committee in charge who has worked unceasingly for the success of the affair.

"Old Glory" which had waved gallantly on its staff, surmounting the pile, throughout the evening, had been taken down with the halyards dislocating only a few of the barrels at the top.

The fire blazed high, attracting more motorists from the various highways and an unknown pilot flying a plane (later found to belong to a Mr. Frothingham of Salisbury, Mass.) zoomed and cavorted over the fire and crowd, adding much to the excitement. Evidently the pilot was of a daring nature, as he performed many stunts near the fire much to the concern for his safety by the throng. Finally the plane disappeared in the direction from which it came, Hampton Beach.

It was later learned that the pilot, who is still unknown, sat, while flying, on his parachute, expecting to make a spectacular jump.

Dozens of watermelons were cut and served free by Legion Post members, to the youngsters, while

FREE COMMERCE

Section eight of Article one of the Constitution says: "The Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes."

The reason for that was clear: It was necessary to give the federal government some control over the shipment of goods from one state to another so there would be no state tariffs and no artificial trade barriers.

As the years marched along, the interpretation of that clause in the Constitution was gradually widened—always in the direction of removing restrictions from interstate commerce.

For nearly 150 years Congress has reserved that power to itself. No state, no city, no single group was allowed to assume the power vested in Congress.

On every hand, strikes—which the Wagner Act was supposed to stop—are halting interstate commerce. Pickets keep trains from running and hauling goods; they stop trucks on the highways and overturn them; they even intercept and censor mail.

The question is a pertinent one: Shall Congress, vested by the Constitution with the sole power to regulate commerce among the states, complacently yield that power to an organized minority.

For out of the 128,000,000 people in the United States, fewer than 5,000,000 belong to all the labor unions. The other 123,000,000 suffer most when commerce is stopped.

Remarks By Frank W. Randall, President Of Seacoast Association

It is highly competitive and all sections of the country having natural recreational advantages are competing for the tourist trade. It is therefore necessary to advertise what we have to offer.

In common with other big businesses we must consider the maintenance of our plant equipment which in the case of recreation means constant attention to conserving our natural assets, the beautification of our highways, the elimination of objectionable signs and roadside stands, the protection of our historic shrines and colonial architecture and the proper regulation of the use of our facilities through zoning laws.

Again, as in any other type of big business we must plan adequate expenditures for major projects to supplement our natural advantages. For example: Adequate highways to handle the increasing volume of business, the protection of the coast line, the development of harbors and inland bays.

Industry is a vital factor in the prosperity of a region. In industrial development work we are also in competition with other sections of the country and it is necessary to publicize industrial advantages of our section and be constantly alert to opportunities if we expect to attract new industries.

Among the factors controlling the selection of a new location by a manufacturer is the attitude of the community or region, the civic spirit of its people and the general alibi of its municipal government. Therefore in addition to publicizing our industrial advantages we must keep our house in order through conservative municipal governments, a favorable tax situation and a cooperative spirit on the part of our people.

Agriculture is an important factor in regional development and requires much thought and consideration. In New Hampshire agriculture was once the greatest income producing agency. At the present time it is third, which indicates that there are great possibilities for cooperative work in assisting and restoring this important industry.

It is essential that we provide good highways, good school facilities, favorable tax assessments and all other possible cooperation to the agricultural districts. In meeting these problems the

LUCRESIA BORI WHO WILL APPEAR AS GUEST SOLOIST AT MUSICAL FESTIVAL, SATURDAY, AT 5 P. M.

Music Festival Will Have As Guest Artist Miss Lucrezia Bori

For years an ardent music lover, she decided that others, too, might be equally enthusiastic over her hobby, so she founded what is now known as the New Hampshire Seacoast Music Festival Association, which annually is attracting thousands from all over New England. This year the fifth annual festival will be held on Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11, and, as is customary, on the magnificent estate of Mrs. Hobson at Little Boars' Head, N. H. The association's growth, its widespread appeal have been rapid. Mrs. Hobson has met the challenge, and each year has contributed more and more to the enjoyment, the elaborateness and the charm of the festival.

Miss Lucrezia Bori, famed opera singer, known as "the first lady of the opera house", will be the star attraction and will give a concert Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. Sevitzyk Program

All New England is anticipating the program to be given by a famous musician, Fabien Sevitzyk of Boston, internationally known conductor, who has just been engaged as conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra for the next three years. The Fabien Sevitzyk Ensembles will be present under his direction as the Sunday feature with the New Hampshire United chorus, Norman Leavitt, conductor. With Miss Bori, Saturday, will be the Young Musician's Orchestra, Mr. Sevitzyk conducting.

In case of rain Saturday, the concert with Miss Bori will be held Sunday at five P. M. in the Portsmouth Theatre.

The object of the association is to promote, cultivate, foster and encourage and stimulate musical entertainment and festivals of every nature, with special emphasis on providing facilities and opportunities for young musicians, singers and composers to demonstrate their talent.

The festival began in 1933 with a musical picnic, by a group of young people who had formed a Young Musicians Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Sevitzyk. Each year they presented their music out of doors at the Hobson estate. In 1934 they gave "Cavalleria Rusticana" and in 1935 the New Hampshire Garden clubs joined them in three days of pageants, pantomime, dancing and garden exhibitions.

For the past few years New England music lovers have been interested and scores have attended the concerts. Already the sale of tickets has been very large and ample space has been provided for seating several thousand people.

The Saturday program follows: Lucrezia Bori, guest artist, Fabien Sevitzyk Ensembles, United New Hampshire Chorus, Fabien Sevitzyk, conducting.

Howard Pettingill, Newburyport, 1h, 26m, 49s; ninth, Spindrift, Harold Caswell, Newburyport, 1h, 34m, 58s.

The fourth and last, was the 16 foot class which started at 2:15 and was won by You Bet, Nelson Brothers, Newburyport (once around only) 48m, 57s; second, Marion D, Joseph Donoghue, Newburyport, 49m, 15s.

The race took place off the beach the starting point being about opposite the first aid room, the first leg 1 1/4 miles east by north, second leg 1 1/2 miles west by southwest and final half leg parallel with the beach front, about 3/4 miles, 3 1/2 miles on each leg, a total of seven miles. The judges were K. A. Reynolds of the Newburyport Yacht club and representing the Hampton Harbor Yacht club on the judges boat were Leo Casey, John Rowe, and Carlisle Moody.

The boats from Portsmouth were accompanied here by the Banashee and those from Newburyport by several motor boats and the Merrimack River Coast Guard Picket boat. The Hampton Beach Coast Guard station sent their boat with a crew to patrol the course during the race. Previous to the race a dinner was tendered the visiting yachtsmen by the local club at their house, and in the evening the dance followed at which time the prizes which were donated by the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce were awarded the winners.

The progress of the boats during the races were described over the public address system by secretary James W. Tucker who had assisting him in the identification of the yachts, M. H. Hathaway of the Newburyport Yacht Club.

The committee in charge of the races was William W. Dow, chairman; Leo F. Casey, John R. Rowe, George F. Williams, and Carlisle E. Moody.

Entertainment committee—John R. Rowe, Daniel Smith, Carlisle Moody, William Dow, Kenneth Langley, Donald Chase, E. H. Brochie, Dr. George M. Bunker, Robert Ring, Fred Batchelder, Perley J. (ladies) Mrs. Earl Bayers, Mrs. Carlisle Moody, Mrs. Mabey Guyon, Mrs. Leo Casey, Miss Dorothy Rand, Mrs. Harlan Teague, Mrs. Fred Batchelder, Miss Stochoe, Miss Frances Chase and Miss Charlotte Eaton.

There will be a series of Friday night dances starting July 9, the entertainmen committee chairman has announced, for members and their guests. The dances will begin at 8:00. At a dance held after the races on Monday there were about 150 couples in attendance and it was a most social party.

GEORGE R. LABOUNTY George R. Labounty, widely known musician of New York City and Hampton Beach and a former resident of Nashua, N. H., was drowned at Hampton Beach Saturday on his 52nd birthday. Funeral services were held in Nashua Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended. Mr. Labounty had been at the beach visiting with his mother and sisters for the past three weeks. He was born in Lacolle, P. Q.

July 3, 1885, a son of Mrs. Florence E. Labounty and the late George H. Labounty. Besides his mother he is survived by two children, George R. Labounty, Jr., Miss Doris Labounty, two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Verry and Mrs. Daisy Dunham of Hampton Beach, a niece Mrs. Florence Hart and a nephew Roland Lefebvre.

Mr. Labounty was widely known in musical circles throughout New England as a violinist and orchestra leader. He was one of the founders of the old Crescent Singing orchestra and played and directed orchestras at the Nashua and Tremont theatres. He had also directed orchestras at Winston Salem, N. C. Roanoke, Va., and in New York City. He had recently resided in New York but the past few weeks had been living at the beach.

Funeral services were held at the Farwell Funeral Home, Nashua with a large attendance of relatives and friends and many beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Denton J. Nelly, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Two of his favorite hymns "Sometime We'll Understand" and the "Vacant Chair" were beautifully sung by Mrs. Rena Shattuck. Bearers were Gideon McKay, Emmett Hamlin, Thomas Sullivan, George Mansur, Edward Pombrio and Michael Doyle.

Interment took place in the family lot in Woodlawn cemetery.

members of the Ladies' Auxiliary officiated over the tonic and ice-cream, which also was distributed to the kiddies free of charge. As the band ceased to play and the fire grew even more bright, the large fire hose, which had been laid previously, was turned on, and water played on all sides of the fire by firemen, and Legion members to prevent the possibility of any conflagration.

The members of the committee in charge of the observance from the local post, are to be congratulated on the huge success of the affair.

Joseph Ferguson, chairman of the committee, wishes to particularly express his sincere thanks to all those, who in any way assisted him in making the affair a success.

Others serving on this committee from the local Post were: Henry Fleming, Marvin Young, Reggie Grenier, all of Hampton, Frank Perkins of Seabrook, Harold Kent of Hampton Falls, and Harold Keene of Exeter.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary who assisted them at the various tables were: Mrs. Maude Collins, Mrs. Anna Elwell, Mrs. Mildred Young, Mrs. Florence Fleming, Mrs. Annie Grenier, Mrs. Lorraine Brooks, and President Mrs. Lillian King, all of the local unit, who also tender their thanks to all who assisted in any way.

Some who attended, remained until the fire had burned low and daylight had come. Fire guards remained on duty until the fire was out.

Francis C. Monroe, 67, of Arlington, Mass., who was struck by a car as he attempted to cross the Daniel Webster highway in Columbia; John Velchios, 20, of Newburyport, Mass., who drove a car onto the West Epping railroad crossing in the pathway of a train; Charles G. Grochowski, 13, of Nashua, a bicycle rider, who was struck by an automobile on Amhurst street in that city.

Eleven drivers, licenses were revoked last week for intoxication and there were 13 revocations for reckless driving. This last was a new record for this year. Suspensions included two because of fatal accidents, one for reckless driving, 16 for improper driving and eight for reasons not made public.

Primary causes of accidents last week were:

Two, inattention; three, turned left into traffic; one, turned left without observing conditions; seven, on wrong side of road; five, speed too great for conditions; three, speed too great at intersections; four, poor judgment; one, did not have right of way; one, delayed braking; one driving recklessly; two, drove off roadway; two, misjudged clearance; one, parking improperly; one, operator had been drinking; two, child running into street; two, child riding bicycle; one, child not watching traffic; one, adult pedestrian not watching traffic; one, adult pedestrian crossing at intersection; one, tire blew out.

who were seeking "economy" and trying to cut the $1,500,000,000 relief bill and put some restrictions on its expenditure. That "economy" idea appealed to the President for the moment, although he didn't like to apply it to relief.

So he wrote to the members of Congress urging that they drop a bill already passed by the House designed to keep the interest rate on money borrowed from Federal Land Banks down to 3½ per cent instead of letting it rise automatically to 4 per cent. That, he said, would cost the federal treasury millions.

What success this borrowed idea will have depends on the reaction of the potent Congressional farm bloc.

It's no wonder that the Superintendent of Documents at the Government Printing Office in Washington has a best seller on his hands at 10 cents a copy—the Senate Judiciary Committee's majority report on the Supreme Court bill. That report was written, jointly, by 10 of thenation's outstanding statesmen—not politicians. The honor roll includes Senators King, Van Nuys, McCarran, Burke, Connally, O'Mahoney, Hatch, Borah, Austin and Steiwer.

"The tears froze as hard as rocks. I picked them from my cheeks and rammed them into my gun. I fired—"

"Go on—"

"The heat of the explosion melted the tears into a squirt of water which froze into an icy dagger as it hurtled through the cold air."

"Don't stop!"

"The dagger entered the bear's head and melted. The bear died from water on the brain."

Entrance Fee To The State Reservation A Topic For Argument

Down at the 40-acre recreational space of the State, which the Forestry Department are gradually changing from a barren stretch of sand into an attractive spot for vacationists and picnickers, the $100,000 structure which was so rapidly but well constructed yet lacks some finishing touches. The office equipment is being put in place and shortly the various units of the place will function according to schedule.

While the state has long played host to thousands of visitors weekly to its mountain domains, it is finding that the beach proposition differs much by its environment and the kind of visitors it must cater to. Instead of travelers en route from point to point as in (Continued from page four)

Coast Guards Locate Father Of Child Who Was Dying At Home

Hampton Beach Coastguardmen hurried Albert Doar of Salisbury to the side of his dying child Sunday after locating him two miles at sea on a fishing trip.

At 7:20 Sunday morning the officer in charge of the Salisbury Beach station notified the Hampton Beach station the Albert Doar, fishing off the Salisbury Beach station was wanted at once as his baby was in a critical condition.

Immediately the Coast Guard began the search for the man and after nearly two hours found Doar. The search was conducted by Surfmen Real St. Marie and John Splain. Doar was surprised to find that his son was critically ill and was taken aboard the government boat and rushed to Hampton Harbor and then to his home.

Music Festival At Hobson Estate, Rye, Heard By Thousands

Thousands of music lovers gathered Saturday and Sunday at the spacious estate of Mrs. Arthur L. Hobson at Little Boar's Head to listen to three carefully prepared concerts in which many noted artists took part.

Preparations are now being made for the event which is always one of the most colorful of the summer months, the annual Children's Day. Coming as it has in the past few years with the yearly Jamboree of Daniel Webster Council of New Hampshire, which this year will be held for four days, it promises a very busy week.

Next week Thursday will be the big day of the week, following the many demonstrations of the Scouts along the Boulevard and on the camping area. As has been the custom for many years, the Hampton Beach Precinct annually devotes a day entirely to the Children. On this day, which this year will be Thursday, July 22, shortly after 1 o'clock in costumes historical, quaint, comical as well as attractive, the larger number on foot, but many on floats into whose preparation much time and energy has been put, with the full complement of the assembled Boy Scouts will march along the Ocean (Continued on Page Eight)

Seabrook Beach Lots Bought By Governor Murphy and Friends

The auction of lots at Seabrook Beach last Saturday was suddenly brought to a close when Judge John W. Perkins, of Hampton, made the announcement to the crowd assembled that all the lots had been purchased by Governor Murphy and a number of beach property owners.

Governor Murphy entered the property transaction as a private citizen and for this reason it is hoped that he will build a summer home at Seabrook Beach.

Judge Richard Shute of Exeter acted for the Salisbury Beach Associates in the sale of the land. Among those active in the negotiations were Rep. Elihu T. Adams of Seabrook and James P. Smith, President of the Salisbury Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Harbor Yacht Club Start Night Dances

The Hampton Harbor Yacht club have started a series of Friday night dances at its club house. John R. Rowe is chairman of the entertainment committee having charge of this series of social affairs.

Bill Elliot Heard On Heinz Program

Thousands of those who always like to hear "Bill" Elliot, the singing cop of Hampton Beach, tuned in last Wednesday when he sung on a coast to coast program of the Hines Magazine of the Air, substituting on that day for Reed Kennedy. He was heard from 10 to 10:30 A. M. over WEEI and in the afternoon from 3:00 to 3:30 over a net work extending to the south and west.
